STRATHMORE COUNCIL HELD MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Tuesday night, with Mayor Strathmore presiding, and all the members of the Council present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

In the matter of Hirtle's Theatre which has been discussed frequently, a letter was received from the Chief Inspector, that the department did not assume any responsibility in regard to structural work. Inspection covered only the matter of exits as far as safety was concerned and proper protection in connection with the projecting machines.

Several members of the Council have inspected the building, and were satisfied in regard to the safety of the structure.

A motion was passed confirming this viewpoint.

The estimates submitted by the Town Board asking for $10,000.00 for 1927, which is an increase of $700, developed considerable discussion, but the consensus of opinion was that the School Board could not possibly get through with a less amount, and the estimate was confirmed.

The matter of the grant to the School Board for $175 was accepted, and an additional grant of $25 was added under the importance of the work had been duly presented.

Three tenders were received for the removal of garbage and ashes, and that of John Cleve for $175 was accepted, and the secretary-treasurer authorized to draw up a contract covering the required specifications.

R. J. Garland, M. P., sent a communication in regard to providing a postoffice, and his efforts towards that end, together with a very full report by Mr. Dingle of the Post Office Inspector's Dept.

Mr. Dingle had made a very fine inspection of the new post office, and in no uncertain terms, expressed his approval of the very excellent quarters that Postmaster J. H. Martin had provided, which he considered were fully equal to that furnished by towns of a much larger population than Strathmore, and much superior to many of them.

By-law 119, a bylaw repealing the old bylaw licensing hotels and restaurants, was read and passed.

Engineers to Show Pictures

An interesting and instructive first picture show will be put on at Hirtle's Theatre, through the kindness of Mr. M. S. Hirtle, and under the auspices of the local members of the Engineering Institute of Canada.

A silver collection will be taken to defray actual expenses, and everyone interested, including the school children of the advanced grades, are invited to attend.

There will be two reels showing the mines and mills of the Trail district in B. C., and one reel showing coal mining.

These pictures have been used by Mr. B. L. Thorpe, M.E.I.C., in his lecture lectures before the Professional Engineers in Calgary and Lethbridge, and he has kindly arranged to loan them to us.

Mr. Stockton, who was at one time a mining engineer, will explain the films in a general way. In addition to the above, due to the efforts of Mr. Stockton and Mr. Schulte, we have been able to secure the loan of some films, including "A Trip Around the World in two weeks, through the cooperation of Mr. V. A. Bowes, of the Canadian Pacific in Calgary.

It is hoped that the promise in arranging to show these educational pictures was to give the people of Strathmore and district an entertainment that could be quite worth while, and which could only be secured on account of the group of engineers living in Strathmore, who are connected with the Engineering Institute and the Professional Engineers of Alberta.

The date set for these pictures is Tuesday, March 29th, at 7.30 p.m.

Partnership of Gatenby & Fisher is Dissolved

INAUGURAL MEETING BOW VALLEY HELD ON MONDAY

The announcement has just been made of the dissolution of partnership of Gatenby & Fisher, whereby Mr. Gatenby becomes sole proprietor of one of Strathmore's leading mercantile establishments.

The store will, hereafter, be known as Gatenby's Department Store, and will be conducted under the same policy of fair dealing and courteous treatment as in the past.

Mr. Gatenby will retain all the members of the regular staff of salespeople. Mr. Prince, Mr. Weir, Mr. Norman Gatenby, Miss Vandendorp, and Miss Hiltary.

Mr. Fisher, when interviewed as to the future plan, said that as yet he had nothing definite to announce, as he had several matters under consideration, and was withdrawing from the firm at this time to enable him to give these matters his undivided attention before coming to a decision.

In an advertisement in this paper, Mr. Gatenby announced a grand reopening of the store, as Gatenby's Department Store, on next Wednesday, March 22nd.

Mr. Gatenby has made arrangements with Canada's leading upholstery of ladies hats, to make a show of the newest styles for Spring, 1927. This will be the largest showing of hats ever seen in Strathmore. Everyone knows that hats at the end of the season are valuable, and merchants have to make a profit on hats to cover the loss on the one's left over. These hats are being sent to Mr. Gatenby on sale or return, so that he takes no risk whatever, and shall be content with a very small profit.

The ladies will be able to save considerably on any hat purchased. Wait and see these hats before buying your Easter hat. They will be on show from April 4th to 9th, and Mr. Gatenby promises that you will be delighted with styles, and the great savings you will be able to make.

Mr. Gatenby is particularly enthusiastic over this millinery proposition, which he is able to present to the ladies so soon after making this change in the business. If prices and service will hold business in Strathmore, Mr. Gatenby is thoroughly in luck with the spirit, and it will not be his fault that good Strathmore money finds its way to the larger business centres.

The first meeting of the Council of 1927-1928, was held in the Municipal Office, Strathmore, on Monday, the 14th day of March, 1927, commencing at 10.30 a.m. All Councillors present.

The minutes of the Annual Election Meeting were read to the Council.

Statement of the finances of the Municipality as at Feb. 28th, 1927 was laid before the council and received.

"Jame", as he was popularly known, was a member of the Tudor Young People's Society and the old Tudor Dramatic Club, and gave unsparringly of his time and talents. Although never of a robust physique, the night was never too cold or the trail too long if his services were required at the piano or organ, and over a wide area of the surrounding district, both young and old will carry with them happy and loving memories of a kindly soul whom they met in the passing.

His funeral service will be held at the Best home on Saturday, the Rev. C. Hocken stork a happy note in referring to Jame's talents as the expression of the Creator through the human soul. At this service were gathered a large crowd representing every district in the community come to pay their last respects to one whom all had learned to love. Many beautiful floral tributes adorned the casket.

After the service, was accompanied by Mr. H. C. Best.

The Baintree Community Club will present their play "A Clergyman's Daughter" at Nightingale on Friday, March 26th. This play was so very well received in Rockyford at its first performance that the cast is repeating it at Standard and Nightingale. The play will be followed by a dance. A good four piece orchestra has been engaged and the club plans to put on a few special numbers at supper time. Tickets for the play may be obtained from Mrs. Jacobs.

BABE RUTH SIGNED A $70,000 CONTRACT

NEW YORK.—Four hours after he came back from the make-believe life of motion picture work with a demand for a $100,000 salary, Babe Ruth signed a three-year contract with the Yankees at $70,000 a year. It took less than an hour's conference with the Yankee owner, Colonel Jacob Ruppert, for the famous home-run hitter to accept his compromise offer, which, nevertheless, makes him the highest salaried figure in the national game, whether player or official, and gives him an increase of $17,000 a year over his old salary.

The Babe's new contract—$210,000 for three years—calls for a yearly pay check exceeding by $5,000 the salary of baseball's ruling figure, Commissioner Landis. It is understood to top by $10,000 the pay of the next highest salaried player, Ty Cobb, whose contract with the Athletics nets him about $60,000, although reported as high as $75,000.

Ruth, according to present plans, will attach his signature to the new document under which he received $52,500 from 1922 to 1926, inclusive. The slagger, who has been keeping himself in condition while doing motion picture work on the Pacific coast, for the Yankee training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla. His weight, 221, and his waistline, 30 inches, now are close to his best playing figure.

Ruth's arrival to the shores of a big crowd of fans in Grand Central station, a flying visit to his wife, ill in a hospital, and the settlement of his salary differences with the Yankees provided a swiftly moving drama for flying columns of newspapers' men and photographers.

After the smoke of all the publicity had blown over, however, it developed that only about ten words were required for the Babe and "Colonel Jake" to reach an amicable agreement.

"Well, Babe, how will $210,000 for three years suit you?" the colonel suggested after a brief preliminary chat.

"O.K.," replied Ruth, without hesitation, and stuck out his fist to bind the bargain.

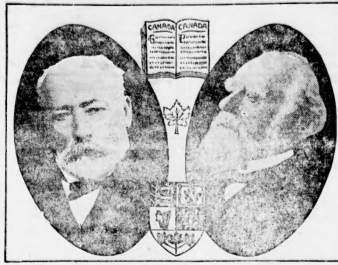

Ruth went into the conference determined to make his life for $100,000 salary for two years, but was persuaded to accept the compromise figure because of the advantage of the three-year clause to him.

While no definite announcement was made, it also was understood that the Babe waived his claim for a refund of $7,000 representing fine administered by the Yankees within the last three years for misbehavior.

The three-year contract is a gamble, a big one for me," said Ruppert. "But I think Babe has five more good years of baseball in him. He's 33 now, but if he keeps himself in shape he will be up with the best for some time to come."

Babe and I always have been good friends. He respects my judgment and I respect his desire to make all he can out of the game while he's in his prime. At the same time, I can't help but realize that his demand for $100,000 was not reasonable, and after we had talked it over there was no trouble in coming to terms."

Two Makers of Canada

SIR WILLIAM VAN HORNE

LORD STRATHCONA

Among the Canadian books that have come to be recognized as standard works a high place is taken by the series known as "The Makers of Canada." They were first published by George N. Morang, of Toronto, in 1904, and comprised twenty volumes covering Canadian history from Champlain to Macdonald and from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Each period and historical figure discussed was dealt with by a scholar and writer particularly conversant with his subject, the result being to gather into the confined space of a few volumes a comprehensive view of Canadian history.

With the more than twenty years that have passed since this series was first published there has taken place a vast amount of research and discovery in the history of this country, and episodes and characters of past days are now much more clearly seen than they previously were. Thus the Oxford Press of Toronto, into whose possession the plates of these books have passed, very wisely decided to issue a new and revised edition of the series. This has been produced under the able editorship of W. L. Grant, M.A., LL.D., who has succeeded in greatly adding to the historical value of the work. Each volume has been carefully gone over and revised, and in some cases whole books have been re-written in the light of newly discovered facts.

Perhaps the most important improvement in the series is the addition of a volume on the lives and work of Lord Strathcona and Sir William Van Horne. It was obviously imperative that Western Canada should receive more attention than was possible when the series first appeared, and no better way of doing it could be devised than in presenting a faithful account of the life work of the two men who, more than anyone else, had to do with the foundation of the Canadian West. In John McNaughton's life of Strathcona and Walter Vaughan's life of Van Horne were the ideal books for the purpose. They are, of themselves, a rich storehouse of information concerning the founding and building of the West. The dynamic force of Van Horne built the Canadian Pacific, the railroad that made Confederation an actual fact. This work was and still is an epic of Canadian history and he, like Strathcona, rightly belongs to the company of giants who may properly be termed "Makers of Canada."

Ruth Says He Is Pleased

"Well, that's off my chest," declared Ruth, after the conference, "and I'm tickled to death with the colonel's treatment of me. He's a square shooter and I'll give the Yankees everything I've got this year the keep the club on top."

This will be Ruth's 13th season in the big leagues. His first salary with the Boston Red Sox as a southpaw pitcher was $4,000. He was receiving $10,000 when sold to the Yankees after the 1910 season for a figure understood to be $122,000. The Yankees boosted the pay check to $25,000 and more than doubled it in 1922.

NEW SHORTSTOP FOR CUBS IS COSTLY

Joe McCarthy, Cub manager, is one of the most conservative managers in the "big time." Despite the fact that Owner Bill Wrigley of the Cubs has told McCarthy repeatedly to "shoot the works" to get pennant-winning material Louisville Joe has supported into big money but once to land a new player since he took charge of the Cub team.

The one man who McCarthy has counted worth a big price is Elwood English, an infielder, bought from Toledo for $40,000.

The purchase of English, however, is a very significant one, in addition to indicating the value McCarthy places on him, for his acquisition by the Cubs indicates clearly that the club bosses have given up all hope of Charles Hollocher's return to the team after a three-years' absence. But to get back to Mr. English. He hails from Granville, O., and boasts of 19 years of age. With the Toledo club last season he played in 102 games at shortstop, batted .301 and ranked second among the regular shortstops in fielding, with a percentage of .945. Flippin of Milwaukee was the only man to top him.

Westerner Says The Farmer's Enemy is Credit

CALGARY.—For many years past one of the outstanding matters of importance discussed at all farmer conferences in Western Canada has been the question of loans. Banks, mortgage companies, and all other lending institutions have been blackballed up hill and down dale. Cries have been raised for farmers' own banks and so forth.

It is therefore refreshing to find that there is now one lone voice in the wilderness that sturdily proclaims some worth while advice on the proper basis of farm credits. The man is John S. Smith, director and secretary of the Canadian Co-operative Credit Society.

Word Enemy Too Much Credit

Mr. Smith, in addressing the recent fourth annual convention of the Alberta Provincial Association of Co-operative Credit Societies, told his hearers that the farmers' worst enemy was unrestricted credit. Too much credit, he said, was frequently the cause of abandoned farms and disheartened families. The borrower was only mortgaging his ability, his time and his service for future years to pay off past indebtedness when he needed his productive ability to provide for the present. "Seventy per cent. of the Alberta borrowers are from one to five years behind in their ability to liquidate their obligations." To make farming more profitable is of greater necessity than to get more credit," he said.

Emphasizing the point that another danger of credit was extension of time, Mr. Smith stated there was a clamor among agriculturists for a longer term credit. The hope was maintained, he said, that a long term loan was a panacea for all their financial ills, by which all their short term debts could be refunded or forgotten. When the average borrower had to refund short term loans into mortgage indebtedness, he was fast becoming an unfortunate. He was mortgaging his labor and selling himself into financial bondage for five, ten or thirty years to pay generally for something that had been utilized and could be of little or no assistance in producing products or income. Long term loans were profitably used for the purchase of more land and permanent improvements. Economic and natural conditions had militated against the farmers for the last eight years to such an extent that most of them were so seriously involved that some of the banks, credit societies and loan companies on the North American continent had been unable to stand the strain of defaulted payments on those short term loans and had to close their doors. But despite that condition, the funding of personal debts into mortgage obligations was not the cure-all. The crash was only extended.

Need Change of Attitude

Mr. Smith said there must be a readjustment on the part of the agriculturist, a changing of attitude, and abolition of the present false standard. Men must adjust themselves to conditions. Government could help by reducing the interest rate, by extending credit occasionally to more producers and by the conducting of experimental farms and the publication and dissemination of so much valuable information which had been so admirably done in Canada. Financial institutions could help in various ways, but each man must help himself.

There must be, he said, a curtailing of expenses, less extravagance, more persistent and continuous labor on the part of the agriculturist, less hired help which was generally expensive as well as inefficient, shorter and less strenuous school terms. This latter item was very important. Children, for instance, must be granted the opportunity to learn how to work physically, how to earn and save money, to help defray part of the expense for their own scholastic training, rather than continuous "cranking" for ten months in each year which excessive strain left the scholar worn mentally and physically, with the thought-permuted in his mind that he must seek a pleasure resort for a vacation in order to recuperate during the other two months. The standard was false. Instead of a child being trained to serve and help, his parents became slaves to him.

Should Not Blame Others

Better care, he said, must be taken of machinery and equipment and the agriculturist's preparation must be more thorough and scientific. Farming must be more diversified. Seven or eight months' labor and four or five months' idleness were incompatible.

CHERRAR PREDICTS WONDERFUL PROGRESS FOR CANADA

CALGARY.—Hon. T. A. Crevier, President of the United Grain Growers, predicts that Canada's development in the fifty years will be unparalleled in history. Agriculture in this country is just starting a great forward movement, he said, and farmers have already invested $6,350,000 in the country.

CROPS AT FORT VERMILION

Twenty-three farmers in the Fort Vermilion district, in the far north-west part of Alberta, 650 miles straight north of the international border, last year raised a total of 2,200 bushels of wheat and 12,000 bushels of oats. Their average for wheat was 25½ bushels, and for oats the average was 28½ bushels per acre. They also had an average yield of barley of 20 bushels to the acre. This is the farthest north point in Alberta raising grain, and is some 200 miles farther north than the farm of Herman Treille on which was raised the world's champion wheat and oats for 1926.

Bill Tierney: "That's easy. I gave an anonymous cheque."

Mr. and Mrs. John Deverlin are rejoicing over an exact pound daughter, their sixth child, since last Saturday. —Newton (14) Mentor-Democrat.

Sassy Sophie says she knows a Carlsbad sheik so dumb that he thinks a nightgown is a windstorm at night.

Lottie Crellin's description of a new sweetie: "She has speed, an assortment of curves, and wonderful control."

Popular after-dinner speech: "I'll do the dishes for you, mother."

A Strathmore youth remarks that his mother thinks that Father ought to have the best, and she has got to be the best. When Father comes home at night, and drags around his easy chair and tries to use his right. And when we all sit down to eat she never blinks at fat. But hands him out some chicken and helps us kids to hash.

My Mother says that home should be in our affections first, but Father thinks it's just the place for him to set the worst. When Father comes home he jokes and laughs with Jim Swanson, but when he starts for home at night he leaves his smile behind. He snarls about the dinner, and he calls the victuals trash, so Mother feeds him chicken and fills us up on hash.

But after Father's rested and had his evening smoke, he always feels lots better and he likes to play and joke. He helps us with our lessons, and he does it in a way that makes them entertaining, and seems just as plain as day. And sometimes, when we go to bed, he hands us out some cash. So let him have his chicken, we'll get along with hash.

Several years ago, Preststone, Ford, Edison and Harrouses were touring through West Virginia. A light on their car went bad, and they stopped at a little roadside, and he called the Duchannon section. Mr. Ford went into the store to make the purchase. "What kind of automobile lights do you have?" said Ford.

"Edison," replied the merchant. "I'll take one," said Ford, "and by the way, you may be interested to know that Mr. Edison is out in my car."

"So?" said the merchant. "When the light was put in it was found that a tire was needed, so Ford went back into the store and asked what kind of tires the merchant had. "Preststone," was the reply.

"By the way, you may be interested to know that Mr. Preststone is out there in my car, and that I am Mr. Ford—Henry Ford."

"So?" said the merchant, and let drive a long squirt of tobacco juice against the wall. While the merchant was putting on the tire, the Harrouses, who had white whiskers, leaned out of the car and said, "Good morning sir."

The merchant looked up at him with a grin full of sarcasm and said: "If you try to tell me that you are Santa Claus, I'll be damned if I don't crown you with this wreath."

It is Strange

Don't it funny?

That some Business men Will get up in the morning, Shave with an advertised razor And advertised soap, Put on advertised underwear, Advertise nose, shirt, collar, tie, shoes and suit;

Seat themselves at the table And eat advertised breakfast food, Drink advertised coffee or substitutes, Put on an advertised hat, Light an advertised cigar, Go to their place of business in an advertised automobile

And turn down an advertising plan On the ground That Advertising doesn't pay? Consultant, eh?

When Frank Miller went up to Coronation he was attempting to rest a novel on a railway train car, and was obviously perplexed with the names of the different dishes.

After some study of the menu he says to the waiter: "Bring me a plate of the alfalfa-delta."

"Beg pardon, sub," whispered the waiter, "but is it de name or de cab."

Doctor Charles H. Mayo, the famous Rochester, Minnesota, surgeon, states that the average man's body would furnish—

FAT, enough to make seven bars of soap.

BLOOD, enough for a medium sized nail.

SUGAR, enough to fill a salt shaker.

LIME, enough to whitewash a chicken coop.

PHOSPHORUS enough to make the tips of 2,300 matches.

MAGNESIUM enough for a dose of magnesia.

POTASSIUM enough to explode a toy cannon.

AND SULPHUR enough to rid a dog of fleas.

A Trick Number

One of the queerest of numbers is 142857. It is a freak, and here is how: Multiply 142857 by 2. The answer is 285714. Notice that the product has the same digits as the original number although they have been shifted in order.

Now multiply 142857 by 3. The answer is 428571. Notice that the product is still made up of the same digits with only a shift in their order.

Try some more: 142857 x 4. Answer 571428. 142857 x 5. Answer 714285. 142857 x 6. Answer 857142.

In all these the products is made up of the same digits, only shifted, not even jumbled.

Try 142857 x 7. Answer 999,999.

Here the magic number breaks, but the answer is still a queer one!

Who can explain why 142857 is such a freakish number.

The poor boy may still cherish the ambition to become president, but he might as well abandon the idea of ever being a United States Senator.

Customer: "See here, Bill, you haven't put any pockets in these pants."

Bill Tierney: "No, sir. Judging from your account here, I didn't think you had anything to put in 'em."

Bobbie Hambly: "Say, how do you expect to get to that letter when you don't address it?"

Gene: "She's a clerk in the dead letter office."

Mother: "Why aren't you going to the party, Alice?"

Alice: "Good gracious, mother! I've already been seen twice in these garters."

Elmer Jenkins told the story of a school boy whose teacher asked him to make up a sentence using the word "disdain" correctly. The boy replied: "If you eat any kind of food you will die sometime, but if you don't you will disdain still quicker."

Shivering Roomer (to landlady): "Will you please put some alcohol in the radiator in my room?"

Hortensie Landlord: "What's the matter?"

Shivering Roomer: "I want to keep it from freezing."

Eleanor: "I'm sick of married life, Mildred. Well, you can always set a divorce."

Eleanor: "Oh, the sick of that, too."

Mother: "I think you'd be happier, Aggie, if you married a man with less money."

Aggie: "Don't worry, mother; Billy will soon have less."

"I am sorry," said the housewife to the colored applicant, "but I advertised for a Scandinavian cook."

"For de Lawd's sake!" replied Vaseline Washington, "jes so's a pub son kin cook, what diffrence do it make what hey 'ligon is?"

Wife (whose mother has been visiting them for six months): "What shall I give mother for a birthday present, dear?"

Fed-up Husband: "Suppose you give her a travelling bag?"

"Three doctors have given Smithers up."

"Isn't they know what's the matter with him?"

"Yes, he won't pay his bills."

Sister: "John, you're getting married again and your first wife died only a month!"

Brother: "My dear, she's just as dead now as she'll ever be."

MONOPOLY FOR MOTOR BUSES AND TRUCKS

A bill has been introduced by the Provincial Government, in which control of charges, for either freight or passenger business, shall rest in the hands of the Board of Public Utilities. This particular business is bound to develop rapidly in the near future, and it is well that the public should be protected.

The Government, on the other hand, is treating upon very dangerous ground, when they suggest granting exclusive rights to operate a public vehicle upon a public highway.

That everyone should be working under a permit is good business, and should give the public a better service and proper protection, but so far as granting any one or two men or firms exclusive rights, it would be bad business, and in the end cause the government no end of grief.

In explanation, Premier Brownlee said Thursday afternoon that the House which gives the government authority to give one or more persons the exclusive right to operate a bus line on any public highway is necessarily precautionary.

"We have no application before us at present," said the premier, "but desire to take this power as a precaution in dealing with possible developments of the future."

WHAT WILL MAKE HORSE SALE A WINNER

The Horse Sale, which was held on Tuesday last, was not the success that it should have been, nor did it respond to the efforts put forth by the officers of the Strathmore Agricultural Society.

The farmers, for some reason best known to themselves, failed to bring in the type of horses for which there is a market, and many of the animals that would have suited the market, were so poorly fitted, that the outside buyers simply would not bid for them.

Surely this is a decided mistake, as a very good horse market is available, and horsemen, who should know, maintain that this market will steadily improve, if given proper attention. Competition with machine power has driven the poorer type of animals off the market, leaving the scrub high and dry without a bidder, except it might be to be candidates for final honors at a fox farm.

The right type of animal, properly fitted, still finds ready purchasers if interest the eastern shippers, who can only handle at a profit when they are able to secure in carload lots.

High River has supplied the right type of animal, with the result that at their recent sale over five hundred were sold at very satisfactory prices.

Some plan, surely, is feasible to get in touch with the farmers who have horses to sell, and have them present their animals in shape to get a reasonable price, otherwise the Strathmore Horse Sale will die a natural death.

The Standard is informed that another point which has helped the Horse Sale at High River, that entries are only received from a prescribed area, and that all entries have to pass muster before the day of the sale, hence the scrubs are eliminated before the sale, and the standard is kept high so that a larger number of buyers are present knowing that the animals will be up to the mark.

The Horse Sale, made a success, will be the means of bringing in a lot of new money to the district, and every effort should be made to locate the trouble, and then go out and remedy it.

The High River Times, in commenting upon their recent sale, says: The late very successful horse sale held in High River by the Agricultural Society can now be considered as an annual fixture of material importance to the raisers of horse flesh in this part of the province and an event of primary interest to the town as well as to those directly interested in the sale. The idea of conducting these sales on a guarantee for every animal put on the block, instead of adhering to the old time custom of "horse-trading" on the wits of the two interested parties, has met with the confidence of the visiting buyers of these sales as noted by their return visits at such and the complimentary unsolicited remarks passed by them as regards the management of these sales. It is such together with the grade of horses offered, that will make for permanence in the horse sale of the district.

Provincial Society which can be made of agricultural, and perhaps dominion importance, and will also give High River added publicity. The lesson to be learned by these sales readily forced by the raisers and breeders of horses as it was particularly evident that all animals in condition and finished, met with a ready sale at very satisfactory prices, while rough stock, horses brought directly to the sale, and sublimely many of which would have fared well at the sale with some previous care, were sacrificed at disappointing prices, and solely so because of appearances. The heavy buyers at these sales are purchasing them for an immediate turnover and have not the inclination or facilities for conditioning and finishing and are consequently not generally interested in such animals, which accounts for the low prices occasionally offered.

Many come to town and have sufficient time to do business, and this puts Strathmore on the map as a centre where they may come for a day's run, and transact business at the same time.

People travel long distances to visit the city stampede, while here, the residents of the Bow Valley have the privilege of seeing a road days sport at a minimum of expense, to which they may bring the whole family.

PRESIDENT WOOD ENLIGHTENS VANCOUVER BOARD OF TRADE

President H. W. Wood, in his address, delivered to the members of the Vancouver Board of Trade, made it very plain that the interest of that city and the wheat producers upon the prairies were very closely associated.

He explained that the weather conditions in Alberta last season worked very much against the business of Vancouver, inasmuch as the crop which would have been moved in September and October, was still unthreshed at that time.

The coal strike in Great Britain was another very important factor in reducing the outward shipping from Vancouver. Notwithstanding the man handicap, the Alberta Wheat pool had supplied about one half the export tonnage at the Pacific port.

The Vancouver Board of Trade would be well advised to try and work in harmony with the shippers from the prairie provinces, and especially Alberta, as they must not overlook the fact that Prince Rupert is now on the map, especially in the matter of handling grain, and possibly can secure as favorable a rate per bushel as Vancouver.

WHAT ABOUT THE BIG STRATHMORE STAMPEDE

The time is almost at hand when the preliminary work should be done towards promoting the annual Strathmore Stampede, which has built up a reputation that stands at the top of the list of the smaller stampedes.

It has been readily acknowledged from many quarters that so far as quality is concerned that even the Calgary stampede did not produce a better standard of bucking horses and steeple.

People travel long distances to visit the city stampede, while here, the residents of the Bow Valley have the privilege of seeing a road days sport at a minimum of expense, to which they may bring the whole family.

Many come to town and have sufficient time to do business, and this puts Strathmore on the map as a centre where they may come for a day's run, and transact business at the same time.

Last year many were of the opinion that the Strathmore Stampede should be a two day event, owing to the large number of entries that were received. In this district there are a large number of horse-race fans, which is amply proved by attendance any of the Calgary race meetings.

The town of Cochrane, which has a much smaller population from which to draw, is conducting two successful race meets each year.

The baseball fans have been, more or less overlooked in the stampede program, who could materially assist by putting on a big baseball tournament. It has been necessary for some time to place every dollar until it either dried or fell into the hands of friend W. S. Patterson, of the Canadian Legion from whom it never had a possible chance of escape, until it was applied upon the debt of the Memorial Hall.

Now that that debt has reached almost the vanishing point, it should be possible to branch out and make a Strathmore a real sporting centre for the people of the Bow Valley.

NIGHTINGALE

A large crowd attended the bachelors' dance at the Hall last Wednesday night. Chaplin's 5-piece orchestra was in attendance. The bachelors served a splendid supper and every one present voted it one of the successes of the season.

Mr. Cliff Kinnamet has moved to Yankee Valley, where he will farm in the future.

Mrs. R. A. Lambert, who had the misfortune to break her ankle some weeks ago, has returned from the Holy Cross Hospital, and is slowly recovering.

The U.F.W.A. held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Stonaker on Thursday. The roll call was carried over. Mrs. Stonaker gave an interesting talk on perennials for the farm. The young peoples' work was discussed. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Stonaker, on March 24th.

Mr. Geo. Thurston, of Calgary, was a recent visitor at the home ranch.

Mrs. H. Hillman has been in Calgary lately, securing medical advice.

Last Friday night a reception and shower was held at the hall in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Hughes. The evening was spent in dancing, the Elks orchestra being in attendance. F. Harriman, assisted by Mrs. Art Kinnamet, made the presentation of many beautiful and useful gifts. Mr. Hughes responded, expressing their appreciation of the good will expressed by those present.

The Hall committee have been busy lately, and have lined the ladies dressing room and kitchen with beaver board. These improvements were much appreciated at the social events of last week.

TRAIL OUTPUT NEARLY THIRTY EIGHT MILLIONS

REVELSTOCK.—It is estimated that the value of metal output at Trail Smelter during 1926 reached nearly $28,000,000. This is nearly six times what it was in 1921. There has been a big increase in the Lardreau and a larger one is expected with the opening of spring.
